

Text: Kreisa, M. (2021). 6 Social Networks Built Just for Language Learners. FluentU Foreign Language Immersion Online. <https://www.fluentu.com/blog/language-learning-social-network/> wz.

This instructive article is written to guide readers on how they could make use of social network platforms to learn multiple languages. It is aimed for internet users, especially those who spend their time on social media.

This article begins by stating how a language could be learned by social interaction and the benefits one could obtain by chatting with native speakers. Besides, the author has also point out that this medium enables people to create a community with fellow learners making the learning progress much easier. In addition, the author has also explained about few readily available language learning social networks such as Italki, Speaky and FluentU for readers who would want to utilise the platform.

In my opinion the article is well-organised with adequate information about language learning on social network platform. Also, the author did a great job by implementing easy vocabulary that prevents readers from misinterpreting the information. From this article I have learned that the stated platform helps learners to achieve their goal cost effectively and less time consuming. The benefits do not end there but also extends by facilitating the users to learn cultural lessons since the whole idea of learning involves people from all walks of life. lw

In conclusion, no improvement is needed since sufficient explanation were provided. I would strongly recommend this text to those who seek an efficient way to learn any contemporary or traditional language without any hassle.
