Should parents ban internet from their kids?

| AgreeKids should not have access to internet | DisagreeKids should have access to internet |
|---|---|
| Kids will keep distracted by variety of entertainments. (AHMAD)- Games and youtube video- Agree with izham that internet can improve communication but kids will take advantage of devoping communication skill in entertainment purposes such as in games bcs lot of on9 games have messaging system – will get distracted. Since this year, lot of new games will come out.- Not only online games, nowadays kids keeps getting distracted by youtube video since its now also one of the important medium for kids consume everyday rather than watching tv- With all of this distraction, that's why kids shud not get access to internet | Kids get benefits from the wealth of information on internet (mere)- Lookup any questions. Not only does online learning supplement kids' regular curriculum, but it also helps them to get ahead. They can take an online course and charge in front of their classmates. Often, the way that internet educators present ideas is so engaging that kids can't help but carry on learning, out of sheer interest.- A vast library for them to discover new things. Kids learn a skill early in life, they tend to carry with them a natural advantage over people who come to a particular topic later on. Kids who learn the using technologies at age five, for instance, tend to do better that those who begin at age 40. |
| Since parent are busy nowadays, it's hard to monitor the kids' internet usage- Parent is working | With proper monitoring and guidance kids can have entertainment on internet |

|---|---|
| | - Such as Interactive websites and games can help children learn problem solving skills while keeping them entertained - kema |
| Need to teach kids to utilize library as it's also can be reliable source of information | Desire to research can improve their language skills and fluency- As they read and evaluate the search results, over time they will become faster and more adapt in finding information |
| It may be true kids use internet to search materials related with their studies, but if the kids always browsing the internet.Will develop introvert lifestyle into kids since using internet will prevent kids from explore outside world.- Tend to make online friends which will lead to risk of Snake in the Grass. Might be fake person since the kids didn't know with whom them interact either it's a real person or the fake one.- Addicted with entertainment on the internet such as SM, games. This will make they less focus on study and always want to explore the SM- Aiman 2nd | To Introduce technological communication skills to them (IZHAM)- What I mean by that is that Kids can learn to socialize with each other in new ways such as through email and instant messages- these forms of interaction should not replace human relationships or getting them addicted to internet, instead they can add to the experience as these email and instant messages are likely to be part of their life in the future- For example, they need to know how to communicate with their lecturers in university or their co-workers and supervisors in their job |
| Because the internet is full of ~~danger of being exposed with~~ inappropriate videos and images that are not suitable for children, such as media content in adult website.Whats more, social media platforms now are being used by many people and has become a common thing in our life. But, it still not good for children to has access to it because they can be exposed to harmful content as well as potential online predators – FENDY – 1stWith our long discussion in this span of time, based on (last point) …point, even though there is danger for using the internet for kids, they can use the internet as long as they have proper monitoring and guidance. With that said we the government has decided to agree that we should not ban the internet from the kids and they should have access to internet for all the | Help with their studies (AUS)- Kids can use internet to search for materials related to their studies- They can have better understanding and different point of view of what they are researching for – 2nd |
